J. T. STACKER, EDITOR.

THURSDAY, MAY 30, 1895.

Mr. Hatch, in speaking of the rumored dissensions in the cabinet as well as the reports that the government could not stand the pressure of dissatisfaction brought by its supporters, said: "That the government had stood it, that the community had stood it, is the best testimony that can be given of the stability of the government, and that gives the greatest comfort to our friends abroad."

The merchants will be glad of this information, and so will the mechanic. But if this is the candid opinion of so prominent and able a man as Mr. Hatch wherefore is the necessity of annexation? If the government has stood the trials that have passed why not those which may come? Mr. Thurston only a little while before that said that without political union we could not have stability of government.

"When doctors disagree who shall decide?"

Mr. Hatch Replies.

The following is the official reply of Minister Hatch to the notification from Mr. Willis of the action of the Administration at Washington regarding Mr. Thurston:

DEPARTMENT OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS,
HONOLULU, May 3rd, 1895.

Sir:—Referring to our interview on the 30th ultimo in which you intimated that the President of the United States would be pleased if the Hawaiian Minister at Washington should be recalled, for personal reasons, and upon which occasion you read to me a dispatch from the Secretary of State to yourself on the subject dated February 21st, but which had been sent to Japan by mistake, I have the honor to inform you:

That Mr. Thurston is now in Hawaii and will not return to the post of Hawaiian Minister at Washington.

I regret extremely that the presence in Washington of the late Minister is no longer agreeable and that the matters referred to by the Secretary of State should have been considered of sufficient gravity to call for the action taken.

I have the honor to be, with the highest consideration, sir,

Your obedient servant,

FRANCIS M. HATCH,

Minister of Foreign Affairs.

MR. ALBERT S. WILLIS,

U. S. Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary.

THURSTON SPEAKS.

For Annexation First, Last and
All the Time—No Stability
Without It.

Last night League Hall was crowded to hear Mr. Thurston and other officials of the Government tell why they are annexationists. As it was understood by the people to be strictly a government affair and as the officials have been charged with harboring desires to continue the present independent form of government while openly expressing a preference for annexation the interest of the audience was boundless.

In beginning his address, Mr. Thurston said:

GENTLEMEN OF THE AMERICAN LEAGUE: Ever since my return, I have heard whisperings to the effect that a restoration of the monarchy with Kaulani at its head had found favor in my eyes; and that I was endeavoring to encompass that object. What the origin of this suggestion is I do not know. It certainly has not come from any action, word or suggestion on my part.

The speaker then referred to the capabilities of some men here in changing their political opinions and proceeded to tell his hearers that the charges that the officials of the government are not heartily in accord with the movement was as false as any lies that have ever been uttered concerning the government. A little later in his speech he told why he is in favor of political union with the United States. During his remarks on this point he said:

The palpable fact that the physical force of a small independent government is necessarily limited, renders it liable to constant rumors of trouble, which, in the long run, is almost as injurious as actual trouble itself.

Hawaii is no exception to this proposition. If this were a community of Anglo-Saxons, or of those thoroughly imbued with the principles of representative government, the situation would be different. Under those circumstances the community, however small, could be depended upon to work along constitutional lines.

No matter how the present conditions came about, we must deal with them as we find them. The situation which we must face is, that the Anglo-Saxon proportion of the community, and those who believe with them in the principles of representative government, will not submit to the arbitrary, despotic and vicious methods represented by the late monarchy; while many of those who believe in the divine rights of kings are not yet content to accept republic principles of government.

Mr. Thurston having enlightened the audience on this point gave it as his belief that the present force of armed men could hold the fort against insurrectionists, local or imported. Nothing could phase them in their earnest endeavor to carry out the principles upon which the government was founded.

Hons. W. N. Armstrong, W. O. Smith and Hatch followed in the same strain and the audience dispersed.

The funeral services over the remains of MONSIEUR HENRI LEON VERLEYE, the late Consul and Commissioner for the French Republic, will be held at the Roman Catholic Cathedral, on Friday afternoon, the 31st instant, at 3 o'clock, after which the body will be conveyed to the Roman Catholic cemetery on King street. Friends and acquaintances of the deceased and the public generally are invited to attend.

Business Talks

May 29, 1895.

If the business in any one line was controlled by one individual, what would be the result? If there was a demand for his wares he would be richer than Croesus at the end of a year and you would have to pay through the nose for what you bought of him. In the United States competition has brought the price of necessities down to a stage where people may have them and not be looked upon as extravagant. If you will look around among our stock you will find that it is made up largely of articles for which you have every day use. We have luxuries as well, but, to-day we tell you of things needful about the house. Agate ware for instance!

There's been a scarcity in Coffee Biggins in town, but we have a stock of them That will interest everyone.

We get our goods in agate ware from La Lance and Grosjean, the makers, and they have the reputation of making the best goods in their particular lines in the United States. We can get "seconds" from them, but the first quality is the best because the enamel will not chip off.

Water coolers, handsomely painted outside
And enamel lined inside,
Small ones for a family or large
Ones for a foundry.

Japanned ware includes cake tins, trays, crumb pans, cuspidors and lots of other things. The prettiest and probably the most useful article in the lot is a toilet stand, very neat as to decorations and complete as to detail in the matter of articles that go with them.

The one that will strike your fancy
Has a water tank that will
Hold sufficient water for the day.

The price of these articles is not in proportion to the value of the goods. You get more for your money than you are used to, but then—competition has fixed that in the United States—we buy cheap and follow the same rule in selling, you understand the Golden Rule.

Retained Glue Pots and Slop Bowls
Are a new thing with us:
Bright and pretty, like a silver dollar.

And you can get them at a price that will amaze you. You should have one of these because they are useful and serviceable.

This is a fish-eating community because the fish are fresh and of an exquisite flavor. All people do not know how to cook them so as to get the substance.

With one of our Agate Steamers you
Can steam or boil your fish
And not lose the flavor.

These fish kettles vary in size from the mullet to the ulua, and the price goes according to the size.

Farmers' Boilers are not used in every household, but there is scarcely a plantation on the islands but what requires one; they are not to be found in every store in the city, but we have a few of them to accommodate the people who want them.

Among other useful articles let us call your attention to agate and tin basting spoons, tea and coffee caddies, egg poachers, chopping bowls, dish pans, dairy pans and wooden potato slicers.

What is better with your chop
In the morning than a few
Santago Chips? You can get them
By using one of these slicers.

Our stock is complete in detail—nothing old or shop-worn.

WHOA!

Just a minute. We want you to know about the famous

BOYCE TABLET LINIMENT.

The many favorable testimonials received from Horsemen both in the United States, and in Europe concerning Boyce Tablets, encourage us, in preparing for the coming season, to make every effort to bring Boyce Tablets to the notice of everyone who is interested in horses. A few of these testimonials will suffice to show the reputation Boyce Tablets have obtained for themselves throughout the country.

To Horsemen who have not yet used Boyce Tablets, we would say that these tablets represent the solid ingredients of a most valuable Liquid Liniment prepared by combining the medicinal agents, recognized by the Veterinary Medical Profession to be the most effective in reducing fever, strengthening stimulating and imparting elasticity to the muscles and tendons; in purifying healing, and softening the skin; and in keeping the hair bright and silky.

It will readily be seen that this liniment in dry form has the following advantages over any other liniments.

1. Its great economy.
2. It requires much less space to carry it.
3. It is much lighter in weight.
4. It is free from danger of leaking, breaking, freezing or wasting.
5. Its ready solubility in either warm or cold water enables the Horseman to prepare his liniment in any quantity and of strength in a few moments time.

In addition to the ingredients most popularly considered by Horsemen as valuable constituents of Veterinary Liniment, we may say that, a Boyce Tablet contains more Genuine Witch Hazel than is in a quart of the liquid extract;

Eucalyptus, or Extract of the fever tree of South America, and Sal-Lister, whose valuable properties as an Antiseptic, Anizymotic and Prophylactic, are accepted and acknowledged by all medical practitioners, also form a part of Boyce Tablets.
